WASHOE COUNTY SUSTAINABILITY – A presentation by Washoe County Sustainability Manager Brian Beffort about the County’s efforts to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, improve air quality, and improve quality of life for everyone in the County, with a short discussion of Team Climate-Resilient Gerlach’s inclusion in the Department of Energy’s Energizing Renewable Energy Prize. [non-action Item]

Brian Beffort presents on the topic of sustainability. The county has committed to achieve net zero greenhouse gas emissions by 2050. The speaker discusses the NZero platform for real-time energy and greenhouse gas emissions monitoring. The speaker mentions the need to reduce emissions across various departments, buildings, and vehicle fleets. Reno is the fastest warming city in the nation due to the urban heat island effect caused by lack of tree cover. Planting more trees provides comfortable shade, oxygen, stormwater control, and potential food availability. The team has been awarded the Empowering Energizing Rural Communities Prize and aims to make Gerlach climate-resilient with net zero carbon emissions by 2050.

Question from CAB member - The CAB and residents are interested in supporting the grant and project. They want to know how they can engage and provide support.

Answer – There are public meetings that we need to host. We need to talk to the people. The meeting is scheduled for tomorrow morning at 10 a.m. It is a team huddle, not a public meeting, focused on work plan, assignments, deliverables, and deadlines. The outcome of the meeting can be shared with the public.

8. MASTER PLAN UPDATE OF THE HIGH DESERT - Eric Young, Senior Planner with the Washoe County Community Services Department, will provide an update on the Washoe County Master Plan, specific to the area plan of the High Desert. [non-action Item]

The community draft of the master plan update is available for review on the online platform called Conveyo. The speaker discusses the process of distilling and consolidating 18 documents into one master plan document. The Envision Washoe 2040 draft is mentioned as the first draft of the distillation. The speaker invites feedback and comments on various sections of the plan.

He discusses the development constraints and opportunities in the unincorporated county. Eric acknowledges the progress made by the Gerlach planning area and encourages the community to provide updates on new opportunities and constraints.

He expresses the need for photos of the area from the community. The discussion mentioned that the plan includes goals and policies based on community input. It was noted that the plan now includes county-wide goals and policies, instead of unique ones for each planning area. The discussion highlighted the similarity of issues faced by different areas, such as maintaining services and providing housing. Chapter 3, the implementation chapter, was mentioned as important for outlining how the plan will be carried out. The speaker describes the implementation plan in Chapter 3 of the draft plan, including tasks, lead agencies, partners, and funding sources.

Eric mentions that notices will be sent out and provides information on accessing the Conveyo platform for reviewing and commenting on the draft plan. He expresses the hope that the draft plan reflects previous conversations and invites feedback on any missed important conversations. The file will be posted with this month's CAB documents.

Question from CAB member - The speaker asks if there will be another in-person meeting in Gerlach.

Answer – Eric Young mentions that there is no in-Gerlach meeting planned but offers to consider it if the community expresses the need for it.

The speaker discusses the changes to the development code for different communities, including Warm Springs, the Forest Area Plan, and Spanish Springs. They mention that changing the rules requires significant community outreach and focused efforts. It is decided that there will not be any development regulation code changes as part of this update. Many regulatory code-like policies will be moved from the master plan to the development code without any changes. The timeline for implementing development code changes depends on prioritization and resource allocation. It could be done as early as next year if identified as a priority.

You can comment on every aspect of the plan. We would really like you all to comment on everything you like, dislike, want to be deleted, or however you want to interact with the plan.

Question – He expressed concerns about the implementation schedule and suggested earlier actions. They also discuss the need to consider landscape requirements based on the water table and annual rainfall in different areas of Washoe County.
